Dear Contributor(s),

Thank you for submitting your research work for publication and signing this agreement. In order to expedite the editing and publishing process and to disseminate your work to the fullest extent, we needed to have this Copyright Transfer Agreement executed. If the research work is not accepted for publication, or if it is subsequently rejected, this Agreement will be null and void. Publishing of the research work is not possible without a signed copy of this Agreement.

Terms of Agreement

1. Authors agree that they have written and submitted only original work, and if they have used the work or words of others, that has been appropriately cited.
2. Authors consent that they have not submitted this paper to any other Journal or source.
3. Authors agree to abide by the ethical norms of Publication by providing appropriate citations and references of the sources referred.
4. Authors agree to receive notifications about inviting contributions and process/paper updates.
5. i-manager Publications reserves the right to request changes to the research work, including changes to the length of the paper, as a condition of acceptance.
6. i-manager Publications holds the Copyright of the article to be published/published and any content to be re-used will require the consent of the publisher.
7. The articles published with i-manager's journals can be posted in the academic repository of the authors institutions with complete citations and link to the published paper. A request from the institution repository with author request should precede the same.
